'TIS THE SEASON FOR SAILOR J

SAILOR JERRY IS A ST

Simply put, the guys who started the company were Sailor Jerry fans. They created Sailor Jerry Limited to keep alive the legacy of the man, Norman 'Sailor Jerry' Collins.

Sailor Jerry started as a small mom and pop clothing brand in Philadelphia, collaborating with local artists to make leather goods, sneakers, t-shirts and other products featuring Sailor Jerry's flash. Since Sailor Jerry spent half his life as a sailor (and the other half tattooing sailors) it was a natural move to create a spiced rum in his name. A cult started to grow around the rum, and pretty soon, it started to outsell anything else they made.

The Rum is crafted from a selection of rums distilled in the Caribbean. Our master blenders "marry" the rums to our exacting recipe, and then infuse it with our one-of-kind mix of spices and other natural flavors, most notably vanilla and a touch of cinnamon. The result is high-quality, old-school spiced rum. An enduring classic, not a fly-by-night fancy.

MERRY JERRY

Sailor Jerry Rum
+ Ginger Beer
+ Cranberry
*For a more craft cocktail, instead of cranberry juice,
use a homemade cranberry & vanilla
bean simple syrup.*

BACKYARD CIDER OR HOT BACKYARD CIDER

Sailor Jerry Rum
+ Apple Cider
*Cold: Add a splash of ginger ale or ginger beer
& lime wedge
Hot: Heat cider with a cinnamon stick, clove &
orange slices.*

BLACK CHRISTMAS

Sailor Jerry Rum
+ Vanilla Syrup
+ Coke + Guinness
*Over ice or as a pint.
If a pint, just a splash
of Coke.
If over ice, just a splash of Guinness.*

SAILOR PUMPKIN PIE (SHOT OR AS A COCKTAIL)

Sailor Jerry Rum
+ Pumpkin Bols
+ Simple Syrup + Cream
*Over rocks or as a shot:
sprinkle with nutmeg or cinnamon/sugar on top.
As a martini, rim the glass
with cinnamon and sugar.*

SHOT & A BEER OR SHOT & A CIDER

Shot of Sailor
Jerry Rum
+ a seasonal brew
or hard cider

SMOOTHNESS IS THE KEY TO SAILOR JERRY'S VERSATILITY.
ENJOY IT HOW YOU LIKE IT - STRAIGHT, MIXED OR IN A COCKTAIL.

Cayman Jack™ Premium Margaritas are hand-crafted with 100% agave nectar, real cane sugar and organic limes for a taste that's boldly original with just the right bite.

GOOD THINGS COME TO THOSE WHO WAIT. DON'T DRINK UNTIL YOU ARE 21.™ ©2012 American Vintage Beverage Co., Chicago, IL. www.caymanjack.com™ is a trademark of American Vintage Beverage Co.

Ever wondered why strangers kiss at the stroke of midnight?

Or why they engage in drunken revelry in the wee hours of the morning, scream and break out in the lyrical inscrutability of “Auld Lang Syne” (a Robert Burns lyric of memories lost popularized in 1929 by Guy Lombardo, by the way) once the ball drops in Times Square? Most of these traditions and customs are rooted in superstition, not just in the United States but worldwide, and it might surprise you in how each carries the hopes and fears of humankind.

SEAL YOUR FORTUNES WITH A KISS.

Kissing, it turns out, represents our very human need for the lovey-doveys. If you don't want to face a new year affectionless and alone, break out the mints and pucker up!

CRANK UP THE VOLUME. The stroke of midnight comes and the noisemakers hit the streets in obnoxious ear-piercing screams of joy. Well, it all turns out to be a way of warding off evil spirits and the Devil so we could all start the New Year off with peace.

THE EMPEROR'S NEW CLOTHES. Many cultures harbor this belief that newness signifies prosperity, bright futures and good luck. Ever wondered why the Chinese wear red and gold for the New Year? Think luck and good fortunes. The same goes for Brazilians and all South Americans, who don the spanking new bloomers for peace and prosperity—red for love and yellow for money. The Filipinos, on the other hand, have a penchant for polka dots while Americans favor the chic and ultra-suave, dark evening gowns. Would you rather kiss somebody in ratty clothes or a beautiful evening gown?

BLACK-EYED PEAS, HAM HOCKS AND SAUERKRAUT ARE THE RECIPES FOR HAPPINESS.

The South likes to feast on black-eyed peas, cabbage and ham hocks for the New Year. Black-eyed peas attract good luck and fortunes. The ham adds flavor, but more important than flavor is the symbolism—avoid the bird (which scratches at dirt and thereby signals poverty) and grab the pig (who roots forward and therefore “moves forward” in the New Year). Cabbage represents money and sauerkraut is a symbol of long life for descendants of Northern Europe. Asians like their fruit (prosperity) and South Americans their 12 grapes—one for each month of the year to usher in “happiness.”

WHERE THE WIND BLOWS. Fritz said it would be warm and breezy days for the New Year, but it'd be better if he predicted clear and calm skies. Where the winds blow dictates where you will personally be for 2013. Money and happiness blows south; foul winds blow north; famine and bad luck head eastward and death and destruction (“milk and fish”) head west. If your hair stays intact at the stroke of midnight, it'll be a good year.

So as far as December 31 and January 1 goes, don't empty any trash, do any laundry or break any objects. Indulge, party like it's 1999 and consume. There's nothing like a rousing good party before a reality of dieting and self-imposed deprivation sets in on January 2.

COME JANUARY 1,

there will be a new set of New Year's goals you've made and had every good intention to keep – like lose weight, save more money, quit smoking, and spend more time with family.

So, now that you've made your resolutions, the key becomes how to uphold them? You may laugh, but the answer is pretty simple: Just do it. Don't give yourself the option to make excuses. Now, we realize this is easier said than done (we are human after all) so we've compiled some helpful tips to help you achieve your goals.

1. FIND A PARTNER IN CRIME. Grab a friend, neighbor or family member to help you stay motivated by getting them to participate in your activity with you – or just ask them to help motivate you and keep you accountable. We all have an Eager Aunt Edna with boundless energy who will gladly spare some cheerful words of encouragement when you feel like skipping the gym or just taking a quick drag from that cigarette.

2. WRITE IT DOWN. Have a weight loss goal? Write down the number of pounds you want to lose. Keep a log of your food intake – this will really make you think twice about getting a bag of candy from the vending machine. Keep track of how many days you've gone without a cigarette. You get the idea.

3. BE REALISTIC. Don't set yourself up for failure and make 10 resolutions; shoot don't make five. Keep it simple and make one or two solid resolutions that are achievable. You'll be happier because you'll be more likely to fulfill these resolutions.

Here's to the new you in 2013! Good Luck and Happy New Year!
